San Luis Obispo – Earlier today CAL FIRE crews from Cuesta Conservation Camp were assigned to burn piles of brush along the Rocky Canyon Truck Trail, east of Atascadero, in San Luis Obispo County. Just after noon, one of the burn piles escaped its control area resulting in a 25 acre fire.

Firefighters were able to fully contain the fire this afternoon. The fire did not threaten any structures and was surrounded by roads. CAL FIRE firefighters will remain on the incident making sure that all hot spots are completely extinguished.

The piles were being burned to reduce the overgrown vegetative in the area and to improve an existing fuel break.
